Letter from the CEO

The people on the streets are shouting it: we need to act for climate and we need to do it now. We have been repeating for nine years that a simple solution exists to mitigate global warming and its negative impact on people, flora and fauna.

Restoring the equivalent of an area the size of the USA (10 million km²) with forests would help us stay under the 1.5 °C, according to the Oct 2018 IPCC SR1.5 report. Who is hearing us? Well, something is starting to happen: every single day new requests arrive from corporates and organisations to join our movement. 128 partners funded us in 2018 and the large majority are regular sponsors, engaging for the long term.

In spite of doubling our teams and capacity during 2018, we are struggling to keep up with the high demand. This is actually great news and our main focus in the year to come will be to grow the number and size of our forestry projects to enable more partners to join.

Marie-Noëlle Keijzer
CEO of WeForest
About WeForest

WeForest is an international non-profit association headquartered in Belgium and with current projects in Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Tanzania, and Zambia. Our mission is to advance innovative, scalable and lasting solutions to restore forest and landscapes for the climate, the people and the planet: WeForest promotes scientific evidence for the ways in which forests contribute to climate change mitigation, beyond their impacts as stocks of carbon, by increasing water availability, enhancing local cooling and improve rural livelihood and resilience.

Our aim is to demonstrate, through the restoration of entire regions, that well-planned reforestation can be the solution to today’s biggest challenge: climate change. We promote Forest and Landscape Restoration best practices and have created a movement, engaging international brands and their millions of customers to act. Current corporate partners include Wex, UCB, Diorapthe, Swift, Treesisters, Nike, Delifrance and Duvel. Our activities are expanding at a fast pace and we are creating three new leadership positions to lead our restoration and conservation activities: two positions as Regional Programme Directors (Africa and Asia & Latin America), and one position as Technical & Operations Planning Director.

Our values are Integrity, Transparency, Excellence, Collaboration, Passion, and Courage. Our vision ‘We imagine a world where communities and nations sustainably manage their forests and natural resources for the benefit of our climate, our environment and humanity’.
